Gold closed in New York yesterday at 194. Prussia has ordered her officers at Bremen to arrest Prussian subjects seeking to emigrate to avoid military service.

On the 22d ult., a gang of Chinamen, working or the Pacific Railroad, in California, was buried under a snow drift, and five of them perished. The United States Government, it is said, is treating with Spain for the purchase of the Island

A difficulty occurred in Hampton on the 29th. A party of negroes made an attack on a store to avenge one who was shot while attempting to steal. They were dispersed by the military.

A. T. STEWART is about to retire from active business. We believe he is not worth more than $50,000,000, and should think he would remain in business untill he had amassed a competency. BEECHER, in his sermon last Sunday, entertained his sudience by illustrations from the recent Ocean Yacht Bace; very complimentary to the winner, young BENNETT; and it is in old BENNETT's paper we are informed of the fact. There were 123 railroad accidents in the United States last year, involving loss of life, killing 633 persons and wounding 156. During the previous 1788 lives, and the wounding of 265. A dispatch from Washington, dated Sunday, says BEN. BUTLER is stirring up the Radicals to the work of impeachment. He told a well-known Boston lawyer to-cay that he was confident that the South meant another war, and that the Radicals should lose no time.

"Editing a newspaper is a good deal like making a fire. Everybody supposes he can do it a little better than anybody else. We have seen people doubt their fitness for apple peddling, ox driving, and counting laths; but in all our experience we never met with that individual who did not think he could double the circulation of any paper in two In the latest edition of "Carpenter's Physiology"

it is mentioned that out of three hundred and fiftynine idiots in England, the condition of whose progenitors could be ascertained, ninety-nine were children of absolute drunkards, and a large proportion of the parents of the remainder were more or less intemperate. Of the three hundred and fifty-nine idiots, seventeen were the children of pa-

English man-of-war Bolivar, while at Laguayra, was taken possession of by her crew, and had cleared for parts unknown. Efforts will be made to detain her should she visit American waters. This is important. If a pirate is affoat, it is well to know it. The Eastern question is assuming a very serious aspect. Napoleon is said to have proposed to England, Austria and Italy to form with France a quadruple alliance, in view of approaching trouble in that quarter. Italy has addressed a firm note to Turkey on the subject of the steamship difficulty on the Candian coast. The relations between Greece and Turkey are very critical, and England has addressed a note of warning to Greece concerning an invasion of Thessaly from the kingdom The Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that a marriage certificate, issued by the town clerk in compliance with the statute law, and for public as well as private purposes, and used not only as a marriage license, but also for town and State records, does not require a stamp when issued by the clerk; but the certificate of the clergyman or magistrate who performs the marriage ceremony should have a five cent stamp. About two years ago a San Francisco judge sentenced a young man to prison for having fitted out a rebel privateer. After a few months confinement he was released. A penniless adventurer, he discovered a quartz mine, which he succeeded in selling for several thousand dollars. With the money obtained he bought into another mine, and sold his interest a few weeks since for $175,000, the judge who committed him to jail being one of the During the past year there were 501 fires in the United States, each involving a loss of over $20 .-000. Total loss by these fires $66,610,000 against $43,189,000 for the previous year, when there were only 854 of such fires. There were eighty-five railroad accidents in the United States in the year just ended, causing the loss of 115 lives, and the wounding of 607 persons. For the ; previous year there were 183 accidents, 335 persons killed, and 1427 wounded.

The financial condition of Kentucky, as it is re ported by the papers of that State, is certainly very encouraging. The debt is said to be between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. The State treasury now holds between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. The Quartermaster-General has just been notified that $700,000 have been made subject to his draft by the proper national authorities, and between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 additional is expected within a few weaks. The assets are therefore enough to liquidate all of the liabilities, and to enable the State to begin the new year free from debt.

The population of New York City, which in 1800 was 60,000, is now about a million. The valuation of property, real and personal, has risen from $25,000,000 in 1805, to $736,088,058; while the real value is about $1,000,000,000, or a thirtieth part of be considered unanimous in their opinion on this the property of Great Britain. The banking capital of the city is over $900,000,000, and the transactions at the clearing house for the year ending October 1st were $2,900,000,000. Its registered and enrolled shipping 1865 amounted to 122,264 tons; of a long life and a great intellect to sustain. and in 1865 there were 12.634 arrivals of vessels. 2,018 of which were steamers. The exports that year were $208,850,250, and the imports $224,-

742,419. A large amount of money is said to have been lost and wen on the yacht race between New York pendence, the great Shibboleth of abolition and and England. The New York Times says : "We heard yesterday of one well-known operator (in of principles and sentiments, and never had any every thing yet discovered) who had been fairly force or obligation of law. It liberated no slave, bantered into bets amounting in the aggregate to 45,000, every one of which he wins with the possible exception of one of $10,000, that the trip would be made by some one yacht inside of fourteen days—this he may possibly lose by fifteen minutes. He had a bet of $5000 that the Vesta would, but on | tional family very properly comprehends all of the Thursday last a friend who desired to 'hedge' a little, begged, as a special favor, that he would transfer it to him, and with his usual good nature (and his usual good luck) he consented."

The New Orleans Picayuns learns, from a gentleman who left Cordova on the 6th inst., that only General PRICE, of Missouri, and Governor HARRIS, of Tennessee, are now left there. They have erected a house, but it is scarcely comfortable, and their families reside in the city. Gov. HARRIS is about sending his family, six in number, to Tennessee, to have his children educated. Gen. SHEL-BY is at Vera Cruz, engaged in the colonization of Tuxpan. Gen. STEVENS is still Superintendent of The helot and his Spartan master, the Saxon carl the Vera Cruz Railroad, but the travel and business on it are small. All the Confederates in Mexico are in excellent health, but their prospects were poor. Mr. Malcolm, of Kentucky, returned home by the last steamer.

The Baltimore Sun of the 1st furnishes the following statistics: "The trade between Baltimore and the Southern States during the past year, by water, has been of a gratifying character. The receipts of cotton during the year ending yesterday were 28,683 bales, of which 9027 bales came from Norfolk, 9498 from Savannah, 4968 from Charleston, 2443 from Wilmington and other North Carolina ports, 1779 from Apalachicola, 924 from Now Orleans, 464 from Richmond, 383 from Mobile, lowing interrogatory:

More 31,701 packages, 2949 hogsheads, 506 boxes, and 263 cases, principally from Richmond, Petersburg, and other Virginia ports. The receipts of wool during the year were 2834 bags, whilst the amount of flaxseed brought to market from the South foots up 3864 barrels. The receipts of naval stores from North Carolina were 28,622 barrels rack and mind of the great Radical organization, who doubts that this party and every one of them would declare for withholding suffrage from the negro?

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 4, 1867. UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE.

The Hon. GARRET DAVIS, United States Senator for Kentucky, on the 12th of December last made a speech in the Senate on the Bill then rending, to regulate the elective franchise in the District of Columbia. The Louisville Courier of the 29th contains his remarks in extenso, covering four closely printed columns of that large paper. Mr. Davis has not heretofore been considered one of the champions of the South, and we hope, therefore, we shall not be accused of "pandering to the sectional prejudices of our readers," when we propose to present them with the gist of this splendid oratorical effort. Mr. Davis deserves considerable credit for placing his protest on record at a time like this... for courageously defining his position, even in the face of the Radical journals, which, he must have known beforehand, would certainly deride him in their usual supercilious manner, for unearthing year there were 32 such accidents, with the loss of what they are pleased to denominate "effete issues." Derision is not argument, nor philippic logic, even though it has been said, and very truthfully, "Who can refute a sneer?"

We shall pass by all the pretty things Mr. Davis says in praise of woman, and his deprecation of seeing her occupy a false position-elicited by the remarks of the Senator from Pennsylvania, who had offered, as an amendment to the Bill, that the right of suffrage be also conferred upon the women of the District. Both the proposition and Mr. Davis' reply being manifest buncombe, we pass on to the real subject matter in hand, the proposition, as he states it, that a nation of a superior race should allow an inferior race, resident in large numbers among them, to take part in their government, in shaping and controlling their destinies. This proposition, he says, "is refuted by its mere statement;" and as it is well in all discussions that there should be a distinct understanding between the disputants as to the precise signification of the terms to be used in the argument, Mr. Davis proceeds to give his "definition:"

rents nearly related by blood.

The amount of flour inspected in Baltimore during the past year was 907,326 barrels, of which 138,576 were Howard street, 327,445 barrels City Mills, 326,761 barrels Ohio, and 64,544 Family. Besides the above, there were inspected 11,127 barrels rye flour, and 45,052 barrels corn meal. During the year 1865 the inspections of wheat amounted to 534,511 barrels, being 76,685 more than during the past year.

A Washington special says the Government has been informed by Sir Farderick Bruck that the English man-of-war Bolvar, while at Laguayra,

He then proceeds to state that, for four thousand years, the negro has been the same unchanging specimen of man in his physical, intellectual and moral features and proportions. There has been the same destitution of arts, letters, and civil polity; the same absence of all civilization, and the same engulfment in the deepest ignorance and savageism.—the tribes and natives making interminable and most cruel wars, and either selling into slavery or putting to death all their captives. The negro was made lower and weaker than the other races; he is subordinate to them, and has often been their slave, but never their master; all the occasional, meagre, and restricted civilization which he has ever possessed was imparted to him by them, and he could retain it only ued contact and help; and but for their superior faculties and endowments the whole world of mankind would now be in primeval and hopeless ignorance and barbarism. Mr. Davis then comes to the history of slavery and the slave trade in this and other countries, and next to the history of emancipation. This commenced, about eighty years ago, in St. Domingo. Then followed the same kind of emancipa-tion, by national authority, in the West India Islands of England, France, and other European powers, and lastly in the United States. That mancipation has been a failure, in so far, at least, as relates to the proposed intellectual or moral advancement of the black man, is undeniable. His deterioration from the time he was a slave in all of them is palpable; but in St. Domingo it has been much the greater, because the conserving irfluence of the white man was not there to check and reform it.

The honorable Senator from Kentucky then remarked that, in the srdor of his youth, untaught by lessons of experience, he also entertained the prevalent dream of a possible civilization of the negro race, and enthusiastically aided the colonization societies to transfer negroes from this country to his native home in Africa.

to his native home in Africa.

"Bnt," he continues, "from all that I have since learned of the negro, and have read of the efforts to found the English colony at Sierra Leone and the American colony at Monrovia and the adjacent country, and from all the information afforded by the friends of those colonies, I am satisfied, in my own mind, that negro civilization can never exist in any other condition and connection than his enslavement to the white man. I am satisfied that if the West India colonies of England, of Spain, of France, where emancipation has become consummate, and the colony of Monrovia and the British colony of Sierra Leone, were abandoned by the white man, and none of his superior intellect, energy and conserving influence were continued energy and conserving influence were continued there, those colonies, now somewhat civilized, would in a few years, fall into as hopeless and as ignorant a barbarism as has hovered over Africa from the beginning of recorded history."

That the two races are unequal would scarcely seem to require more than the mere statement of the fact. The men of science of every school may point. PRICHARD is the only exception. He assumed the opposite theory when a college boy of seventeen years, in writing a thesis, and this error, imbibed by him in his youth, he devoted the labors

Mr. Davis then goes on to say that he believes ours to be a white man's government; made by him for himself, without the aid or any reference to the negro, Indian, or any other race of man. The preliminary clause in the Declaration of Inderadicalism, he says, is a mere abstract statement negro or Indian (for there were then both); it gave no right of suffrage or any other right to any negro or Indian, free or slave, and it left them precisely as though it had never been made. These are historical facts-undeniable. "Our nanationalities of Europe who may come here; but I assert that negroes, Indians, Mongolians, Chinese and Tartars, ought not and cannot safely be admitted to the powers and privileges of citizenship." The speaker next adverted to the innate antipathy of different races, hostile in proportion to the degree of their difference. Amalgamation, he says, is the only possible mode of obliterating this aversion, and this, in the United States, is simply and utterly impossible. Superior and inferior races have mingled, it is true, but then they had held these relative positions from accidents of fortune, and not from any intrinsic ethnological difference. and the Mormon knight, were all of the same Caucasian raco. [Mr Davis says they were all of the Shemilic race. For a United States Senator, we confess Mr. Davis makes a very fair show of loarning, but we incline to think that here his ethnology is wrong. In the distribution of the races, as descended from the sons of Noan, the pure Caucasian, both "Greek and barbarian," is usually de-

Mr. Davis then points to Mexico and the South American Republics, where we see the baneful effects of practical miscegenation of the white with the negro and the Indian. The argumentum ad hominem is put in the following interrogatory:

old iron, and hundreds of other small articles." in the vaunted radical position of the equality of January 1

LARGEST CIRCULATION .- The DAILY races, that the negro must be the equal of the white man before the law, that he must have every legal right, every political and social privilego,

"Since the close of the last session of Congress some of the Radica's in each House have changed their relations; they have taken to themselves wives; but which one of them has selected a sable daughter of Africa to occupy that relation? Who of them and of their families now associate with the black as they do with the white race? Where, Senators, are your negro sons-in-law, daughters in-law, negro brothers-in-law,? Where are your connections in all the tender relations of the do mestic and family circle of the negro race?" How could the honorable Senator from Kentucky be so rude as actually to attempt to ram the negro down the Radical throat by the force of vulgar logic? After showing at considerable longth that the sole motive of the Radical party in urging negro suffrage, is a craven fear of the loss of power, he concludes thus:

oncludes thus:

The people of the South made war in a wrong cause. They turned their backs upon peace and prosperity and liberty to fight for separate political power, and their heroism was never surpassed. Now, the war is made upon them to deprive them of their right of self-government, of their fields, of their right of self-government, of their religious temples. They, and their wives, and their children, and their country, and everything comprehended by that term, all for which man ought to live, and for the proservation of which he should dare to die, the South is summoned to surrender to the absolute control, by the instrumentality of her own negroes, of her old and inexerable cuemies. And she has the great humiliation of having upon her this deep and degraded enslavement; yes, were, she is offered the great insult of being asked to accept it.

yes, worse, she is observe the great insuit of being asked to accept it.

Now is coming the terrible time in which the people of the South will be required to exercise their truest heroism. They must resist this great, this most foul, cruel and dishenoring enslavement, but peacefully and by every peaceful means which they can command. They will stand in need of all their patience, their courage, their fortitude, their newer of endurance. To every unjust and dogradtheir patience, their courage, their fortitude, their power of endurance. To every unjust and degrading demand they must answer with a will fixed as destiny, no! By their peaceful and quiet and heroic suffering they must win even the respect of their enemies and the admiration and sympathies of the world. It will be a dreadful and may be a long trial, but how much more bearable than the shame and galling chains of a voluntary slavery; and such a slavery to such masters! If it be voluntary, they well deserve it; if it be involuntary and forced upon them, the justice of God and man will come to their deliverance. Men of the South, exhaust every peaceful means of redress, and when your oppressions become unendurable, and it is demonstrated that there is no other hope, then strike for your liberty, and strike as did your fathers in 1776, and as did the Hollanders and Zealanders, led by William the Silent, to break their chains, forged by the tyrants of Spain.

CHARLESTON, December 28th, 1866.

To Pear Sir: The sample taken by myself of the Swan Island Guano, has the following

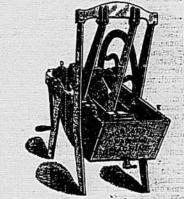

The chemical and mechanical conditions of this Guano fit it admirably for the purposes of the planter, particularly for cottom and corn crops. The Phosphate of Lime is almost as finely divided as when coming from dissolved bones or decayed cotton seed. The whole of it will therefore be likely to be appropriated by planters the first year, provided it is not applied in too large proportions. The proportion of water is about 8 per centabove what might have been expected, but at the price demanded it is still one of the chespest fertilizers I have ever known offered in this market. Mixed with from 5 to 10 per cent. best Peruvian Guano, I should anticipate the most satisfactory returns.

Respectfully yours,
